ABSTRACT

Title of Dissertation: BAROQUE MUSIC FOR TRUMPET: A STUDY OF SOLO AND CHAMBER REPERTOIRE

Dissertation directed by: Associate Professor Chris Gekker
School of Music

The trumpet experienced important changes in terms of its musical use during the middle and late Baroque period. Prior to the Baroque, and even in to the first half of the 17th century, the trumpet had historically been used for rather “non-musical” purposes, sometimes as an instrument for battle or as a tool to be used in the town square to announce the arrival of a dignitary. On the whole, the trumpet was most certainly not used as an instrument of melody – that was typically reserved for violins, flutes, and oboes. However, in the late 1600’s, composers such as Allesandro Stradella and Henry Purcell began to treat the trumpet differently. They saw the melodic potential in the trumpet and began to feature the trumpet more as an instrument of melody, as opposed to relegating it to only outlining triads and emphasizing harmony.

Of course, keyboard, string, and woodwind instruments had long established a significant catalogue of works by the late 17th century. Additionally, even after the trumpet had been established as an instrument of melody, prominent composers of the time still wrote significantly more solo music for these other instrument families than for the trumpet. Consequently, the overall Baroque repertoire for the solo trumpet pales in comparison to that of the other families of instruments. But, much of this Baroque literature not originally written for trumpet can be presented effectively in the form of a transcription, thereby adding greatly to the repertoire of the Baroque solo trumpet.

The goal of these three dissertation recitals is twofold: 1) to perform literature that offers music from a variety of countries of origin that span the entire Baroque era and 2) to feature music that has remained relatively unknown in the trumpet world, yet is musically strong. I will also introduce viable "new" music to the trumpet repertoire through Baroque transcriptions originally written for other instruments or voice. The majority of the transcriptions I will be performing have originated from my own listening and study of Baroque music, and I have selected music that I felt would translate well for the trumpet.
BAROQUE MUSIC FOR TRUMPET:
A STUDY OF SOLO AND CHAMBER REPERTOIRE

By

Douglas Richard Burian

Dissertation submitted to the Faculty of the Graduate School of the University of Maryland, College Park in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Musical Arts
2008

Advisory Committee:

Professor Chris Gekker, chair
Professor Chris Vadala
Professor Mark Hill
Professor Richard King
Professor Peter Beicken
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Compact Disc #1

Track 1  Air de Trompette........................................Georg Philip Telemann
Track 2-4 Three Sonatas..............................................Girolamo Fantini
  I.  Sonata No. 1, detta del Coloretto
  II. Sonata No. 2, detta del Gonzaga
  III. Sonata No. 8, detta del Nero
Track 5  Sonata à 4..................................................Pavel Josef Vejvanovsky
Track 6-9 Sonata per Archi, Tromba e Cembalo................Alessandro Stradella
Track 10 Sonata à cinque..............................................Heinrich Ignaz Franz Biber
Track 11-12 Trumpet Concerto No. 1..............................Richard Mudge
Track 13-16 Sonata in D, G.1........................................Giuseppe Torelli

Compact Disc #2

Track 1-3 Concerto à 6 for Trumpet and Oboe...............Johann Wilhelm Hertel
Track 4  Sonata No. 75 for Trumpet and Bassoon............Johann Christoph Pezel
Track 5-7 Sonata in D for Two Trumpets.........................Petronio Franceshini
Track 8  Sonata in C for Trumpet and Violin....................Godfrey Finger
Track 9-12  "All’armi pensieri" for Trumpet and Soprano.....Alessandro Melani
Compact Disc #3

Track 1-3 Violin Concerto in G minor, BWV 1056.............Johann Sebastian Bach for solo trumpet and organ

Track 4 Christ, unser Herr, zum Jordan kam, BWV 684.....Johann Sebastian Bach for two trumpets and organ

Track 5 O Mensch, bewein' dein' Sünde gross, BWV 622...Johann Sebastian Bach for solo trumpet and organ

Track 6 Allein Gott in der Höh sei Ehr', BWV 676...........Johann Sebastian Bach for two trumpets and organ

Track 7-9 Three Arias from St. Matthew Passion.............Johann Sebastian Bach “Ich will bei meinem Jesu wachen.” for two trumpets and organ “Erbarme dich, mein Gott.” for two trumpets and organ “So ist mein Jesus nun gefangen.” for solo trumpet and organ

Track 10 Organ Concerto in C Major, BWV 595.............Johann Sebastian Bach for solo trumpet and organ

Documents:

Abstract
Programs