Level Definition:

- Munsell: 3/3, 10 YR

- Texture: Loam-like texture

Soil description (inclusions, other comments):

A clean loam, made of coarse loam, found in between the tools and artifacts.

Associated Features and Levels:

- Level above: N/A
- Level below: B

Bag number: 1

Artifacts:

- Shards of glass
- Fragments of clay pot
- Metal nails
- Pieces of wood
- Coins: 1996, 1910
- Manufactured glass bottle
- Pieces of ceramic and porcelain
- Metal lion pin, metal valve

Interpretation:

This unit may have been a rough area or possibly a shed due to building materials found. Artifacts found date from the 20th century. Artifacts found don't provide significant information about the lives of the people who lived here. Soil doesn't indicate an actual building structure, only used as trash had within it.

Photographs:

Level Definition:

Munsell: 10YR 3/2

Soil description (inclusions, other comments):

Texture: silty

Associated Features and Levels:

In the NE quadrant, there is a large area of active and repeated throughout the season. We decided to make this feature part of Level C.

Level above: A
Level below: C

Bag number: 12

Artifacts:
dusty clay, mortar, glass vial, bottle glass (green, brown, clear), nails, metal, blue glass, blue glass, diagnostic shreds of clear glass, which could be Parker’s salad dressing, piece of yard, glass top of mason jar.

Interpretation:

This level B was most likely part of Level C, but was labeled as 'B' artificially. So next level, C, will be the actual second level '2' C.

Soil description (inclusions, other comments):

An ash pocket located on the southwest wall. There were coal ash remnants on other areas, but not in concentration.

Associated Features and Levels:

Level above: B
Level below: D

Bag number: Bag #15

Artifacts:

- Whiteware thimble about box, along and 4 in. wide.
- Red clay muller, a brown bottle neck, coal pieces.
- Several nails, other metal items, oyster shells, glass shards (clear)

Soil description (inclusions, other comments):
Some Roots, a Few Clay Inclusions with Large Clay Inclusion in NW Corner (See Drawing on Back)

Associated Features and Levels:
Level above: Level B
Level below: Level B

Feat # 3

Bag number: Bag Number #11
Artifacts: some brick, plastic (music record fragment), walnutshell fragments, coal, glass (mostly clear-colored), 1 press molded fragment, bottle fragments, shell, rusted metal material (nails, sheet metal, 1/2 pair scissors, bottle top), bone (1 sawn chicken bone), ceramics (2 whiteware shards) yarn fragment, 1 penny (date unknown)

Interpretation:
Because of the variety and quantity of artifacts found at this level, it may have been where trash was dumped. Since the amount of artifacts decreased as we got closer to Level B, this level (A) may have covered an original yard. Also, Feature #3 that lies near the center of the unit may have been an underground pedestal for the corner of a structure. Terminus post quem: Early to Mid 20th Cent.

Artifacts: 2 bricks, mortar & dark soil surrounding

Interpretation:
The bricks & mortar, surrounded by soil, that does not fit well with the color & texture of soil around it, suggests that these bricks once served as a cornerstone to hold up the foundation of some kind of structure (or that there possibly remained on the site, 3 others—4 for each corner).
