FDLP History and Dissemination of Government Publications

- 1813 Joint Resolution of Congress: Authorizing copies of House and Senate Journals and other Congressional documents be distributed to institutions outside the Federal establishment.

- The Printing Act of 1895: Formed the basis for Title 44, created centralization of printing, binding and distribution of US Government documents, establishing the role of the FDLP, and transfer of the Office of the Superintendent of Documents to the GPO.

- Title 44, U.S. Code: Mandate for Public Printing and Documents. Chapter 19 deals with the Depository Library Program.

  Government publications…shall be made available to depository libraries through the facilities of the Superintendent of Documents for public information. Each component of the Government shall furnish the Superintendent of Documents a list of such publications it issued during the previous month, that were obtained from sources other than the Government Printing Office.

FDLP History and Dissemination of Government Publications

• Since the 1990s much has changed with dissemination in electronic format.
• 1998: begin manually harvesting electronic Government publications and use of PURLs for permanent access
• Agencies disseminating information on own websites, not through FDLP or informing the SuDoc, as stated in Title 44, U.S.C.
• How do we continue mission of Keeping America Informed, especially considering huge increase in online content and ephemeral nature?
• 2011: website level archiving, became Archive-It partner
American Express to compensate customers for illegal practices

American Express will pay $85 million to approximately 250,000 consumers. American Express will return the money directly into the accounts of the affected consumers. If the consumer no longer holds the American Express card, American Express will mail a check or credit any outstanding balance. Read more >>

Consumers expect, and deserve, that companies follow the rules

Today, in close partnership with our fellow banking regulators, we are ordering three subsidiaries of the American Express Company to put some $85 million back into the

Collection Development

Priorities for website level collection:
• Must be within scope of FDLP
• Not distributing through print
• Government information disseminated through web and not cataloged
• Avoid duplication of effort with other institutions
• Worked with the Acquisitions staff to help determine need
Collection development to date

• Y3 SuDoc class, commissions, committees, independent agencies
• Non-standard government websites: flu.gov, choosemyplate.gov
• Thematic collection
  • U.S. Government Native American resources
• Notification from community
• Regular frequency of crawls (resource intensive)
All while maintaining size of account
Collection Development

Notification from community

• Document Discovery (Govt Agencies) (http://usgpo.wufoo.com/forms/document-discovery/)

Collaboration

Federal Web Archiving Working Group

• With nominations came questions: What are others doing?
• Priorities are to maximize use of account: stick to other priorities if being done by others
• Began talks with Library of Congress who organized inaugural meeting with Library of Congress, GPO, and NARA, and attained management approval
Collaboration

What we have done or discussed?
• Bi-monthly updates from each agency keeping the group well informed of new activities
• Developed an internal wiki to post information on agency programs, outreach, etc.
• Developed contracts and RFI’s
• Processes for ingest and transfer of WARC files
• Policy topics, sharing policies
• Technical topics, such as how social media is being archived, which is constantly changing
• Increased participation: Smithsonian, NLM, HHS, Education
Collaboration

Where we want to go

• More outreach: Increase participation and knowledge of group
• More relationship with content creators
• Guidance documentation
• Web presence
Collaboration

End of Term Archive
