THE ART OF PIANO TRANSCRIPTION AS REPRESENTED
IN WORKS OF FRANZ LISZT AND SERGEY PROKOFIEV

by

Anastassia M. Voltchok

Dissertation submitted to the Faculty of the Graduate School of the University of Maryland, College Park in partial fulfillment of the requirements for the degree of Doctor of Musical Arts 2005

Advisory Committee:

Professor Santiago Rodriguez, Chair
Professor Larissa Dedova
Professor Cleveland Page
Dr. Mikhail Volchok
Professor Kira Gor
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Disc 1

Franz Schubert - Franz Liszt

The Winterreise

Track 1 Gute Nacht
Track 2 Die Nebensonnen
Track 3 Muth
Track 4 Die Post
Track 5 Erstarrung
Track 6 Wasserfluth
Track 7 Der Lindenbaum
Track 8 Der Leyerman
Track 9 Tauschung
Track 10 Das Wirthenaus
Track 11 Der sturnische Morgen
Track 12 Im Dorfe
Track 13 Fantasie, Op.15

Disc 2

Sergey Prokofiev

Ten Pieces, Op.75
| Track 1 | Folk Dance |
| Track 2 | Scene      |
| Track 3 | Minuet     |
| Track 4 | The Young Juliet |
| Track 5 | Masks      |
| Track 6 | The Montagues and Capulets |
| Track 7 | Father Lorenzo |
| Track 8 | Mercutio   |
| Track 9 | Lily Dance of the Maidens |
| Track 10 | Romeo bids Juliet Farewell |

Ten Pieces, Op.97

| Track 11 | Spring Fairy |
| Track 12 | Summer Fairy |
| Track 13 | Autumn Fairy |
| Track 14 | Winter Fairy |
| Track 15 | Grasshoppers and Dragonflies |
| Track 16 | Oriental Dance |
| Track 17 | Passepied |
| Track 18 | Capriccio |
| Track 19 | Bourre |
| Track 20 | Adagio |

From Six Pieces, Op.102

| Track 21 | Waltz |
ABSTRACT

Title of Dissertation: THE ART OF PIANO TRANSCRIPTION AS REPRESENTED IN WORKS OF FRANZ LISZT AND SERGEY PROKOFIEV

Anastassia M. Voltchok, Doctor of Musical Arts, 2005

Dissertation directed by: Professor Santiago Rodriguez
School of Music

I was always fascinated by the genre of the piano transcription. The art of transcription allows you to express yourself through a different medium and still bring out the meaning of a composition to the audience. Working on this project was challenging both musically and pianistically. I concentrated on works by Sergey Prokofiev and Franz Liszt for my project, exploring the beautiful world of their compositions, expanding my knowledge of music and the piano.

The genre of keyboard transcription that appeared as early as the 14th century reached its peak in the 19th century with Franz Liszt who was one of the greatest masters of arrangement. He transcribed not just for the demonstration of the variety of tone-colors that could be produced on a grand piano, but was also anxious to bring recognition for compositions which were perhaps less appreciated in their original forms.

The Winterreise, Schubert’s song cycle written on poems by a German poet Wilhelm Mueller in 1827, was published in 1828. Liszt chose 12 songs from this cycle and transcribed it for piano in 1839. He changed the order and chose songs that evoked the most expressive images and were convincing without text. Liszt took many songs that were originally written in major keys, making the general mood more optimistic than that of Schubert whose cycle was mostly in minor keys.

In 1851 Liszt also finished his transcription of Schubert’s Fantasie, Op.15, for piano and orchestra.

Prokofiev followed Liszt’s tradition, and in 1937 finished the very effective piano version of his ballet Romeo and Juliet, composed in 1935-36 and first performed in Brno, in 1938. Consequently, selected arrangements for piano from his ballet Cinderella were published in 1942-44 Prokofiev started Cinderella in 1940 but was interrupted when the Second World War began. The ballet was performed in Moscow in 1945.

I included two Compact Discs in my project:

Disc 1
Franz Schubert-Franz Liszt
Winterreise 1839
Fantasie, Op.15, for piano and orchestra 1851
Disc 2

Sergey Prokofiev

Romeo and Juliet, Op.75, ten pieces for piano 1937

Ten Pieces, Op.97, from “Cinderella” 1943

Waltz, Op.102, from “Cinderella” 1944

Making this recording helped me to explore the complexity of pianism and to broaden my knowledge as a musician.
Bibliography

